THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1940

We, the Senior class of Medina High School, Medina, Ohio, being of sane minds and in full possession of all our faculties (at the moment) declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

Therefore, in accordance with the above, these constitute our individual bequests.

1. Harold Gift is willing to bequeath his "right of way" on Rt. 42 to anyone who can drive out there any faster than he ean in his Model T.
2. Duane Hand sorrowfully gives Anna Rau some of his quiet disposition.
3. Clara Hitzelberger bequeaths to any Sophomore the honor of getting the only A in ehemistry tests while the rest of the class flunk.
4. Max Horton wills his teeth to Leonard Frost so that he ean get exeused some afternoon to get one pulled.
5. Elizabeth Kenzig presents her position as noon librarian to Eldene Hammersehmidt.
6. Wilbur Kerch cheerfully gives to Johnnie Sailer the first chair in the trombone seetion if he will be careful not to drowned out the rest of the band.
7. Robert Selzer and Louise Kilmer will be willing to plan noon walks for any infatuated students.
8. Phyllis Krieger, being in good spirits, donates some of her giggles in English class to Merle Plants, if she will promise to use them with diseretion.
9. Ronald Partlon bequeaths to Miss Allen a bit of his smile to be used during those moments when the seniors are out of control.
10. Tom Palmer offers to the highest bidder the privilege of walking into school at 10:00 o'elock and out again at 2:00.
11. Louis Nettleton reluctantly leaves his position at the reeorder at noons to any person who likes to dance.
12. Lois Gerspaeher, Elizabeth Horkey, and Betty Morris graeefully bequeath their quiet ways during school hours to Olive Ann Tooker, Helen Szekeres, and Anna Rau.
13. Irene and Bill Orban donate a bit of brother and sister friendliness to any other brothers and sisters in school who need it.
14. Leonard Prehn will be glad to give to Roy Mugrage all his knowledge of film development, eteetera.
15. Robert Pritehard authorizes us to give to Robert Baker his knowledge of farming, providing Baker isn't in love by the time he's out of school.
16. Pearl Skidmore bequeaths to any future students of Miss Thomas's the ability to fulfill the work assigned by her.
17. Betty Shirey, Dale Yaekle, and Virginia Smith, will be glad to give up their booth at Tony's to any other students who ean't stand the strain of the 8th period.
18. Robert Kindig wills his "somewhat" shyness to anybody who knows when to use it to the best advantage.
19. Martha Ryan leaves to Elwood Pincombe the privilege of beating his drum twice as hard.

CLASS PROPHECY OF 1940

Geneva, Switzerland
March 5, 1955

Dear Ebert,

I landed that job and I am in Geneva now, acting as secretary to Frank Feckley, who, as you know, was recently elected U. S. representative to the World Federation. We crossed the Atlantic in one of those new super-liners designed by Raymond Varisco and just put into operation by Grimes Air Lines. The first session yesterday was attended by representatives from practically every civilized country in the world. The representative from Belgian Congo, with whom I was talking, surprised me by speaking of Bob Reuman who is in charge of all U. S. Missions in that section of Africa It seems that Bob captured some rare animals which he sent to the "Buck" Horton Circus. Nellie Snyder, Margaret Sharps and Ruth Brine, the noted acrobats, are working for Buck now as are Gerald Gienke, the sword swallower, and Princess Dale Yaekle, the hypnotist. This fellow also spoke of Bill Orban, who is in Africa at this time searching for rare plants which he sends to his sister, Irene. Irene certainly did the world a service when she invented the seedless watermelon.

We stopped in Paris on our way to Geneva as I have always wanted to see a night club. You can imagine my amazement, when upon entering one of the swankiest of cafes, I was greeted by Dale Bachtell. Dale informed me that he was headwaiter there and took us to Tom Palmer and Boyd Berry, who owned the establishment. The greatest surprise came, however, when I saw Mademoisel Eleaner Humphreys and her dancing troupe, which included Betty Shirey and Virginia Shelke, not to mention many other petite French mademoiselles.

Sorry I haven't time for more, old man, but Frank and I have a dinner engagement with U. S. Ambassador to France, Ruth Leidig, and her secretary, Betty Hostetler.

Your pal,

Bob Kindig

Medina, Ohio
March 15, 1955

Dear Bob:

Congratulations on the job! I hope you spend most of your time in Geneva, as Paris is a poor place to start a diplomatic career.

I was interested to hear about some of our old classmates. I can tell about a few more of them.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

20. Virginia Shelke and Audrey Schmidt give up their seats in the last row in Civics class to help Miss Phillips keep order.
21. Margaret Sharps, although very sorrowful in thinking of it, donates, bequeaths, and wills her broad and extensive knowledge of how the President of the United States is elected and all about the electoral college to Dale Bachtell.
22. Newton Betz offers his dancing instructor, Dorothy Phillips, for dancing only, to any underclassman who cares to become a jitter! (I'm the bug.)
23. Jeanne Westland wills her ability to pick football heroes to Barbara Garnett if she can keep her choice in Medina.
24. Robert Taylor, in sane mind and in full possession of all his faculties dolefully bequeaths to Carl Abell the ability to sweep the girls off their feet.
25. Eileen Palosi and Jean Roshon give up their seats in the school bus to two newcomers from Poe.
26. Charles Ream wills his blush to Jim Gibbs if he thinks it will help him to keep his halo.
27. Phyllis Rickard wills her love of French to Sidney Bowman.
28. James Ryan wills his startling will power to stay in school every afternoon (until 2:00 to Ralph Herrington.
29. Dale Bachtell donates his almighty Ford to Don Culler so that he may save a little shoe leather at noons.
30. Boyd Berry gladly gives Vernon Tilden a little of his calmness (??) and temper(!) in a basketball game.
31. Imogene Bowman is willing to relinquish her position with Miss Wright to any underclassman who hasn't had enough school during school hours.
32. Edwards Brooks regretfully transmits to Bill Rapp a few locks of his curly hair to be used to his advantage in vamping the girls.
33. Thelma Bucey wills her privilege of riding to and from school in a "Chevy" to Rosa Peeks.
34. Dorothy Culler bestows the honor of being called to the telephone during recitation periods to Martha Mellert.
35. Virginia Deyell is willing to give up some of her knowledge of French to anyone who is willing to absorb it.
36. Jay Einhart wills his love of, and ability in, dancing to Loren Kaden.
37. Frank Feckley is willing to give up his A's to Leonard Frost to be used by "Fro" to the best advantage.
38. Doris Gardner and Helen Webber will be glad to get permission from Miss Allen for any two seniors to go into the library every 15 minute period next year to fool around.
39. Jean Garnett sorrowfully disposes of the ability to go to dances and still get A's to any underclassman who thinks he or she is capable.
40. Barbara Komjati wills to any future bookkeeping student the ability to annoy Mr. Claggett with the noise of the adding machine during recitation.
41. Frank Rau hopes that Frank Bond will take some of Rau's prowess as a football and basketball player to be used in obtaining a championship for Medina High in the next two years.
42. Jeanne Veverka wills her deportment to anyone who needs it.
43. Eleanor Humphrey wills the honor of walking in the North entrance at 8:29 every morning to Mr. Jones if he can get into his room by 8:30.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

44. Elmer Zsarnay wills his ability to get out of two weeks of school to do operetta scenery to Wesley Kemp.
45. Marian Barfoot, in sound mind and body, does hereby will her everlasting love for historical subjects to Donald Todd, knowing that he will be ever so studious.
46. Lawrence McGaffney hereby wills his ability to sleep in all classes to any Freshman who will use it to the best of his or her ability.
47. Margie Kenyon offers her red hair to Marie Navratil to give her an excuse for that temper.
48. Doris Woods offers her job as Mr. Claggett's secretary to Beatrice Baker.
49. Betty Hostetler wills the privilege of walking home with the three Betty's at noon to any underclassman whose name is Betty.
50. Paul Raasch leaves fifty pounds of his "health" to Duane Todd.
51. Phyllis Sohl donates her bookkeeping seat to any future bookkeeping students.
52. Helen Grogg wishes to will her smallness and nimbleness to Anne Leister.
53. Ruth Leidig bequaths her "eternal chatter" to Hazel Ream.
54. Florence Oleksa gives Eleanor Kaszian the privilege of dancing her dances with Johnnie Sailer at noons.
55. Ellison Brooks wills his accent to anyone who knows how to use it.
56. Eloise Whitmore wills her ability to get to school early every morning to Betty Aylard.
57. Bob Reuman, Hal Snedden, and Ebert Wiedner bequeaths the privilege (?) of debating (?) in assembly (!) to anyone with the timerity to try it. For their convenience they throw in one pair of braces (to keep knees apart), one stick of gum (to keep teeth in place), aspirin tablet (guess why), and one pair of bright red mittens (extra large) to bolster up a little courage before hand—Good luck.
58. Betty Sailer wills to any under-graduate her unrealized aim to be on the honor roll all four years.
59. Vance Grimes, the good looking Romeo of the Senior class, hereby wills the one and only girls in Wooster to Duane Todd.
60. Violet Plants wills to Patsy Flannery the technique of getting to school just on time every morning.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

70. Helen Martin bequeaths her glasses to Miss Kuhn's secretary.
71. Robert Evans and Orville Thompson bestow upon Paul Grimes and Paul Barr the honor of being in school every day just long enough to learn a little geometry.
72. Junior Davis would be more than willing to give Warren Bart a bit of his size in order that Warren might be able to go out for football next year.
73. Glendine Wooldridge bequeaths some of her red hair to Barbara Burnham.
74. Richard Mugrage agrees to will to Junior Rowe his two months experience in debate.
75. Frank Struzynsky wills his sly way of walking around in the halls to William Buckley.
76. Donna Yergin bequeaths three inches of her shortness to Joann Szaniszlo.
77. Gerald Gienke leaves a cupboard of cooking utensils to any boy who wishes to be a bachelor and take up cooking.

We truly believe that the above bequests are made in accordance with the laws of this State, County, and School, and so on this 29th day of May, 1940, we set our seal on this document.

Signed: Senior Class, per
Hal Snedden

CLASS PROPHECY

I just came from a political convention in which Hal Snedden was nominated for his second term as Attorney General of Ohio. His campaign manager, Newton Betz, says he'll be governor yet and if he is he will probably appoint Lillian Gabor as superintendent of highways. Lillian's company is now engaged in building the new superhighway between Medina and Cleveland. Jim Ryan, who will superintend the job, hopes to have it completed in time for the National Air Races next fall. Jeanne Westland and Ginny Deyell will be among those to compete in the Partlon Trophy Race for the cup sponsored by the Partlon Baby-Bottle Company.

There is a lot of construction work going on in Medina now. Work was recently begun by the McGaffney Construction Company on Bob Evan's new plant to manufacture peanut bars. According to sales-manager Orville Thompson, these bars are now sold in every country in the world. Richard Mugrage and Robert Selzer, with their wives, Helen Grogg and Louise Kilmer, are building a new factory, too. They intend to wrap the turkeys they raise on their turkey ranch, in cellophane. McGaffney is also building an addition to the Medina Hospital, which, according to chief of staff Dr. Dorothy Culler, is now the largest and best hospital in Medina County. The nursing staff includes several old classmates among who are Glendine Wooldridge, Donna Yergin, and Doris Woods.

I've just been looking at a recent copy of the Saturday Evening Post, the cover of which was drawn by Zsarney. Elmer draws quite a bit for the Komjati and Whitmore Advertising Company, too, as do Jean Roshon and Marian Barfoot. There is an article in the Post about Frank Rau, the new coach for Southern California. Frank was with the Rams for a while. Bob Taylor, Harold Gift, and Junior Davis were, too, before they retired.

I wondered, when I received your last letter, whether you had stopped at the Hotel New Yorker. It is now managed by Frank Struzynsky. The New Yorker is noted for its fine foods which are prepared under the supervision of that famous "French" chef "Louis" Nettleton and his wife, Imogene Bowman. Miriam Bradley, Clara Hitzelberger, and Violet Plants are hostesses in the New Yorker's famous dining room. I was in New York myself about a month ago and met Lois Gerspacher at the New Yorker. Lois and Martha Mae Ryan are the New York representatives for the Kenzig and Hazen Fashion Salons of Hollywood. Audrey Schmidt and Marjorie Kenyon are even sending Eleanor Neiswinter to Paris to study styles there. Phyllis Krieger, Gladys Whittenberger, Eileen Palosi, and Doris Gardner operate a large beauty salon in Hollywood where they sell Virginia Smith's Cosmetics.

In a little while I must turn on my radio and listen to the new program sponsored by Prichard's Pointless Pencils for use by all high school students. The program is to feature Jay Einhart and his famous swing band with Thelma Bucey, the blues singer. The comedy team of Brooks and Brooks has already made a big hit on their fifteen minute program for Webber's Burpless Beer. The guest star for tonight is to be Pearl Skidmore, who starred in the recent smash hit "Skidmore Rides Again," produced by Wilbur Kerch Studios and directed by Charles Ream. Some of the scenes photographed by Leonard Prehn are said to be the best ever filmed. Leonard recently married Helen Martin, who was formerly with Lillian Gunkleman, Betty Morris, and Florence Oleksa in the Continental Insurance Company. Her place is to be taken by Elizabeth Horkey. Also featured on the program is the swing trio of Jean Garnett, Betty Sailer, and Mary Lou West, who were recently featured in Duane Hands' "Corn Club" on Broadway.

One more thing. Before you go to bed tonight, take a look at the moon and see if it seems any smaller. According to Professor Paul Raasch's latest theory the moon is gradually moving away from the earth. This is once when I hope Paul is wrong.

Your old friend,

Ebert
